Welcome

Welcome to the Risk Management Awards. After a decade of gala dinners around London's Mayfair, we are holding our very first online Awards Presentation to comply with government guidelines on large gatherings.

A special broadcast will on 11th November reveal the winners of this year's showcase for excellence in your profession – a profession whose significance and value has never been as tangible as it is today against the backdrop of a global pandemic.

This year's entries show what can be achieved even in the face of this unprecedented adversity – and often in small teams with relatively limited resources. The profession has shown it is able to continue to innovate and progress even in the midst of a crisis, and our judges were impressed by the numerous exciting tools and technologies being developed both here in the UK and overseas.

As ever, we look forward to celebrating the finest of these with you. Congratulations to all those shortlisted, and best of luck.

Deborah Ritchie, Group Editor, Perspective Publishing
